Excerpt from The Souvenir of Western Women The Souvenir of Western Women bears upon its pages a complex picture of works and pioneer experiences of the women in the Pacific Northwest-the Old Oregon country-from the time of woman s first appearance in these unexplored wilds to the present day. The purpose of this book is to record woman s part in working out the plan of our Western civilization; no other civilization, perhaps, bearing so conspicuously the imprint of her hand and her brain. In coming to this country through all the perils, privations, and hardships of the longest journey ever made by a migratory people in search of homes, she marched side by side with man. Upon arriving here she could acquire equally with him a part of the public domain (the first instance of the kind on record). In patience, courage, and endurance, woman proved mans equal. In her ability to cope with strenuous conditions, she was again his recognized peer. The powers thus engendered within her must perforce have left an indelible impression on the body politic. Their dominance is apparent in our colleges and universities, all of which are builded upon co-education as a corner-stone, and all of which also accept women as co-members of the faculty. From the beginning of statehood in all the states carved out of the Old Oregon country, women have been admitted to the practice of the professions on an equality with men. In the legislative halls woman s voice has been heard, and some of our most salutary laws owe their origin to her thought. In property rights woman enjoys far greater privileges here than in the...
